There is in Cambodia a temple with a famous depiction of a Stegosaurus carved onto its walls. This is fascinating, but with a little temporal clairvoyance the solution is quickly to be found. The NXXS opinion on this is as follows.

The Khmers who built the temple were into scientific research. They held a deep interest in the fossil findings of dinosaurs. From the observations they obviously realized how the dinosaur looked while alive. They knew they used to live, but of course they never saw a living one!

Confucius was a vessel for the powers of destiny. He was on the level of Krishna or the real Christ (but not crucified obviously). But he had that magnetic, loving power and made all the people see in him a great friend.

He was a hero. He was the light. There was absolutely no one like him. There was nothing like knowing him! So unexplainable. He likes me and he likes you. He was healer. He was burly in build. He made bread and butter. He ignited passion. He was the best person they ever knew. He was into magic and illusions. Confucius could alter your perceptions and he could vanish. He had a woman as a lover. They played games and made love. He had his books and thoughts published. A great voice of the love for beauty, soul and meditation. Then there was Mencius...

According to clairvoyance (as with all the ATA stuff), this handaxe is actually part of an axe that had a handle. It was used by twelve-foot people, approximately 6-16 million years ago (!!?). They needed a tool like this to hunt some big, BIG animals. Those animals were remnants of dinosaurs, it seems. Damn!

America's Stonehenge located in Salem, New Hampshire is an old Norwegian site dating from the 1st Century AD according to the NXXS opinion. The Norwegians liked the area and wanted to settle there but of course the Native Americans gave them problems. They cut the rocks out of stone. Nothing from the reading indicated a burial function to the site. It may have been a settlement marker. There's a likelihood that they had a 20 year old girl and 15 year-old boy with them, along with a typical sailing crew. More can be seen about this, but for now it will be left at this satisfactory point.
